Hartford. Conn., Sept. 7.—To a Connecticut audience fifty thousand strong massed upon the home stretch of Charter Oak race track, this afternoon. President Taft spoke on arbitration between nations. It was such an audience as is seldom seen in this state for most of it had been drawn from the hill and valley towns where agricultural purspits are followed and to most of the people the president was an unfamiliar figure despite his many and frequent visits to the state.

Kept Busy During His Stay. esident Taft was both the guest he state and of the Connecticut association and his address fold a state luncheon given in the Memorial hall on Capitol hill. t as was his visit here, it was one

Baldwin for our experiences have not been dissimilar in public life. He has been a judge and is now trying executive work, approaching the people from a little different angle. As we agreed coming up from the station, it is a broadening education to sit upon the bench and dispose of a case on the facts before one and accept the results of that case and then to come into the executive branch and be responsible for everything.

In Connecticut We Are All Neighbors It gives me great pleasure to come to Hartford and meet old friends whom I see around this board. Connecticut has the advantage of being small enough to make every man a neighbor of every other man so that a man in Hartford gets gets acquainted with a man in New Haven.

"A woman marshal could do much more than any man to rout out 'blind tigers.' Women get used to smelling their husbands breath. I shall place my confidence in a woman marshal."

Further than to say that mandamus suits might be brought to compel the councilmen either to transact the business of their offices or get out, neither Mayor Wilson nor Mr. Trickett would disclose what plan of action would be taken against the rebellious councilment. Mayor Wilson returned to Hunnewell today. Mrs. Edward Hart, formerly a dancer known as Irene Hart, was murdered or took her own life. The woman's body, bearing four bullet wounds, was found in the woman's home with the revolver lying beside it.

Hart, who called in the police, declared that his wife had shot herself. When he was arraigned in court a detective who investigated the case testified that in his opinion the wounds could not have been self-inflicted, and Hart was held without bail.

Paddling Around in Tubs.

New York, Sept. 7.—The greatest famine that has afflicted China in mod-ern times is predicted by correspon-dents of the Christian Herald, following the floods which have turned many hundred miles of the Yangtse valley into a lake and taking probably 100,000, lives. Writing from Wuhu, on August & Charles Beals, a missionary,

"The future of central China hangs like a great dark cloud. We are nke a great dark cloud. We are powerless to save even many of our church people. The members were farmers, and all they have is a bit of rice tied up in the tops of trees, while they themselves are paddling around in tubs. Oh, the thousands of orphans there will be in our district. The Chinese officials are waking up, but they have little to meet the need." Much Worse Than Former Famines.

In another letter, Mr. Beals writes:
"The floods extend from Chinkiang to Ichang, about 800 miles long and from 190 to 200 miles wide, all the Yangtse valley lowlands. The river is the highest known and still rising. It is appalling. The former famines here will be as nothing to what we will have this autumn and winter. May God help poor old China in her suffering and misery." Much Worse Than Former Famines

Maurice J. Walker, chairman of the Christian Herald orphanage commit-tee, stationed at Chinklang, wrote, on August 5:
"The outlook is very bad, and one wonders what China will do. She cannot expect continual help from other countries."
